

Please do NOT allow the CBA to weaken Indiana's "Do Not Call" law by "overriding" it through Federal regulatory action. My wife and I used to come home each day to 20-30 phone messages for product solicitations and then, during dinner, we would receive another 3 or 4 calls. The CBA's proposal would make a mockery of the Indiana law (that Indiana residents overwhelmingly support) and would effectively rob us of our hard-earned privacy. As written, the law does not prohibit banks from contacting their customers or performing their service responsibilities. Further, there is no overriding Federal issue that would warrant change. PLEASE keep it that way!

Sincerely,
